

LONG ISLAND
COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Overshadowed by NYC, Long Island and its needs are far too often overlooked. While the number of coronavirus infections is proportionately the same for NYC and LI, the city has raised $80 million for response efforts, while the Island struggles to raise even modest funding.

The COVID-19 Long Island Philanthropic Response Fund was established to aid nonprofit service providers struggling with the health and economic effects of the coronavirus. Grants will be awarded to Long Island nonprofits meeting emergent and critical needs affecting our local region. Priority will be given to nonprofits addressing essential health and human services, food insecurity, and arts and culture.

Your gift will help nonprofits struggling to keep up with the demand for critical services. LICF continues to work closely with sector leaders to understand their current needs and gaps in funding, which will continue to change as the pandemic unfolds.

DONATE TODAY

COVID-19 LONG ISLAND PHILANTHROPIC RESPONSE FUND (L511)

The easiest way is to use your credit card

Existing donors can transfer funds by going to MyNYCT

To donate by wire transfer, contact Marie Smith at msmith@licf.org

The fund is made possible by a partnership of Billy Baldwin, Claire Friedlander Family Foundation, Horace and Amy Hagedorn Fund, Rauch Foundation, Long Island Community Foundation, etc.